This unusual photograph shows a hunter in the act of shooting a large bear while a brother animal lurks in the background. Bears became so numerous in Yellowstone Park that they had to be thinned out. They were getting hungry and dangerous. The death sentence was an excuse for government hunters to try their skill at shooting.

Smith set a new school record in the pole vault, when he cleared the bar at 11 feet 7 inches, placed first in the high jump and took second place in the low and high hurdles.

New Heavies To Replace Trojan Stars This Year

High School Beef and Brawn Added to Jones Football Squad

Followers of the Trojans' football fortunes moaned with the close of the 1932 grid season, for it meant the loss of Ernie Smith and Tay Brown, that great pair of tackles.

But their gloom was practically dissipated with the entry at Troy of Ed Rogers, 210-pound all-conference tackle from Pasadena Junior College, and Al Tibburs, Piedmont high school all-star tackle, who tips the beam at around 220.

To this pair was added Kenneth Carpenter, of Compton high school, who can play both center and tackle. This 220-pound, 6-foot, 4-inch husky is a cousin of the departed Tay Brown.

Bob McNeish, Trojan halfback, who scored the first touchdown against Notre Dame last season, has been joined by his "little brother" George, six-foot, two-inch, 180-pound youngster, who played center at Van Nuys high school.

Among other prospective footballers who registered for the new semester were Clark Talbot, guard, transfer of Glendale Junior College; Wade Wiley, all-city quarterback of Los Angeles high school; Raymond Lony, quarter back from Urban military academy, and James Applegate, end, of Hollywood High.

Athletes transferring from junior college will be eligible for varsity competition, while those registering from high schools will compete for freshmen teams.
